

Vitamin & Mineral IV Infusions

Our IV therapy allows various critical nutrients to bypass the digestive system, to be directly administered into the body intravenously. During infusions, your bloodstream receives the nutrients allowing for an exponentially higher absorption into cells elevating their efficacy (as opposed to ingesting vitamins and minerals).

Our 917 doctors will help you to best decide the right vitamins and minerals for you presently. Moreover, they can prescribe a wide range of custom-tailored infusions. Please reach out to our office for availability, if you are interested in something not listed.

As infusions can take 30 minutes to an hour to administer, many patients appreciate taking advantage of scheduling shared sessions with friends and loved ones. Additionally, 917 offers mobile infusions. Please call for availability.

VITAMIN C

$125 (10g)

$150 (25g)

$200 (50g)

Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) is an antioxidant that most importantly protects your cells against the effects of free radicals*.

Additionally, Vitamin C boosts the body immune system and supports the production of better-quality collagen in the body's skin, tendons, cartilage and ligaments. Broadly, it is used for a variety of ailments including the common cold, gum infections, acne, fertility and cancer. CONTAINS: Vitamin C

- Enhances immune system
- Improves cell regeneration and anti-aging
- Improves energy levels
- Reduce inflammation
- Helps with wound repair

* Free radicals are unstable molecules that our bodies produce as a byproduct of normal metabolism. Or by exposure to toxins in the environment, such as carcinogens. They can damage DNA increasing the inflammation response that sometimes results in mutations that can lead to diseases.
